

YMI News - June 2017

Dear members of the YMI community,

Before the YMI newsletter will take a summer/winter break we would like to share some exciting opportunities and news with you. In case you are looking for some reading material for the upcoming two months, we've got you covered. This newsletter features plenty of reading material for and by young mediators.

The YMI newsletter will be back in September 2017!

Around YMI:

The YMI Facebook group is growing on a weekly basis and the meaningful exchange is outstanding. This newsletter goes out on a bi-monthly basis but the Facebook group allows us to keep you up-to-date at all times. In addition to sharing job opportunities, news articles, blog posts and events, the group embraces mediation mentors and mentees alike. We invite you to use this online community to ask questions, give statements and get involved! We invite everyone interested to join the YMI mediation community on Facebook of more than 250 members to join today.

Whether you are a qualified mediator or have an interest in training to become a mediator, these simulations are designed to meet your needs. The simulations are set in an intimate, interactive setting where the mediator will also answer questions. Observing one of our mediation simulations enables observers to gain one of their observations needed to gain CMC membership/status.”

27th June 2017, 4pm - 6pm, Hardwicke Chambers, Hardwicke Building, New Square, Lincoln's Inn, London. WC2A 3SB.

Did you know that there are many young researchers in the field of mediation?

Forschungsgruppe Mediation will organize for the 12th time in Berlin an event that features great interactions and displays different publications. As an Interdisciplinary Research Group on Mediation, Forschungsgruppe Mediation supports young scientists, who look for methodological or substantive exchange with other scientists across numerous disciplines.

The 12th Colloquium in Berlin opens its doors to discuss your research and exchange with international peers. Become a part of international research development and apply with your project before 30th July 2017 to: info@forschungsgruppe-mediation.de
