TRAINING SESSION

The Organising Committee for the Lex Macula National Mediation Competition strongly believes equality of opportunity and to foster this spirit along with the competition we have scheduled a training session for all our enthusiastic participants. Sessions like these provide the team from all over the country to be exposed to high quality training which allows them to perform exceedingly well during the competition. The training session for our previous events have been taken by former justices, practising advocates and other legal practitioners which bring years of practical knowledge and pedigree to guide the participants to under the nuances of the law and it's application.

The training session for the Lex Macula National Mediation Competition will attempt to systematically breakdown the process of mediation for the participants. This would include explaining the role of the mediators, the counsels and the clients.
Understanding how to use different session in the mediation process is crucial as the session would explain the working of private caucus session and discussion sessions to the young participants. Furthermore, the session will hope give a glimpse of the collaborative approach that is crucial to the process of mediation.

Such initiatives have previous been praised by judges of our past events as it allowed even young law students to perform to the best of their abilities.
